Arbitration – Green Hydrogen – Renewable Energy: African Perspectives

Green hydrogen and renewable energy raise great expectations, politically and economically. The African continent can provide green hydrogen and renewable energy.

Among other countries, Morocco, Tunisia, Namibia and South Africa are under consideration.

- Which kind of legal disputes are to be expected?
- Is arbitration the appropriate conflict resolution mechanism for green hydrogen and renewable energy projects? Which arbitration rules shall apply? Which arbitration institution and which place of arbitration shall be chosen?
- How does the enforcement of arbitral awards work?
